

Robson Collection Summer Reading

Check out these excellent latest additions to the Robson Collection, on restorative justice...

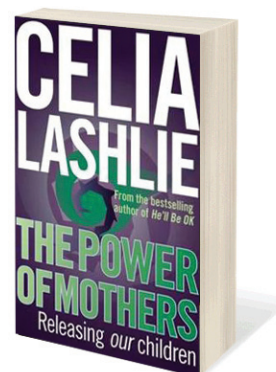

Healing Our History: The Challenge of the Treaty Of Waitangi by Robert and Joanna Consedine: A revised and updated version of the Consedines' best-selling book on the Treaty - by Pakeha, for Pakeha. Healing our History was written as a result of the popular Waitangi Associates treaty workshops run by Robert Consedine.

This trailblazing book, first published in 2001, addresses the questions of Pakeha identity and the relevance of the Treaty - questions that are still pertinent today.

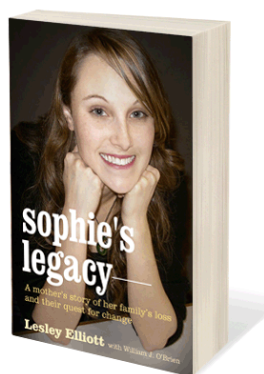

The Power of Mothers: Releasing Our Children by Celia Lashlie: Celia Lashlie, justice reform campaigner and bestselling author, brings her powerful insight to the problems of families trapped in a spiral of crime, poverty and abuse.

She points to the reasons behind why New Zealand's rates of imprisonment are so disastrously high, what the politicians and social service organisations could do to improve the plight of children in at risk families, and why the system should be protecting them.

Sophie's Legacy by Lesley Elliot: Sophie Elliot's mother Lesley has weathered the horror of her daughter's murder, and the gruelling process of the trial, to set up a foundation to help young women identify when they might be in a relationship that puts them in harm's way - as Sophie was, unbeknownst to her and her family - and how to seek help.

This book is Lesley's tribute to a daughter she adored, her harrowing account of a tragedy no family should ever have to endure, and her inspiring decision to make sure that Sophie's legacy endures. It's also her challenge to the justice system on behalf of victims.
